Second Annual Psychopharmacology Institute and ISPN 11th Annual Conference

Introduction

We are very pleased to welcome you to beautiful Greenville, South Carolina, site of the 2009 11th Annual International Society of Psychiatric-Mental Health Nursing Conference. Our conference theme, Translating Inquiry to Enhance the Continuum of Care was chosen to promote presentations and dialogue focused on using scientific evidence to inform practice, education and research to advance optimal psychiatric-mental health care for individuals and families across the life span. This conference is a unique opportunity to bring the domestic and international advanced practice psychiatric-mental health nursing communities together to learn about a variety of state-of-the-art and complex issues. Presentations and posters will focus on translational science, trauma and violence, access to care, quality of care and safety, psychopharmacology, evidence-based psychiatric nursing practice, policy affecting the mentally ill, cultural implications and applications, complementary and alternative treatments and innovative practice models. Our four invited speakers, each with expertise in research, practice, policy and advocacy, will discuss topics such as the behavioral health workforce, trauma exposure among underserved child populations, trends in traumatic brain injury and the national mental health agenda for the new administration.

As with previous conferences, we encourage you to network, take advantage of opportunities to develop collaborative projects with peers, attend social events such as the opening reception and ISPN Foundation dinner, visit exhibitor treasures, attend the Psychopharmacology Institute and the post-conference play therapy workshop and enjoy the wonderful cultural sites and culinary delights that are part of the Greenville tapestry. There will also be time to receive inspiration during the Melva Jo Hendrix Lectureship and to celebrate with your colleagues during the ISPN awards ceremony.

We look forward to seeing you at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Greenville on March 31-April 4, 2009 and feel confident that you will have a good time and be enriched by the collective experience.

Second Annual Psychopharmacology Institute and ISPN 11th Annual Conference

Second Annual ISPN Psychopharmacology Institute

Introduction

The Second Annual International Society of Psychiatric-Mental Health Nurses (ISPN) Psychopharmacology Institute is being held prior to the ISPN 11th Annual Conference. The leadership of ISPN has listened to what you want and need to enhance your knowledge and to also make this learning opportunity easy to use. We have deliberately planned the Psychopharmacology Institute as part of the ISPN Annual Conference because we heard from members that taking off additional time to address learning needs for psychopharmacology practice was becoming a challenge both financially and from a time utilization perspective.

We have designed a program that addresses practitioners that care for patients across the life span as well as in various clinical practice settings. Therefore, there are breakout sessions on prescribing issues related to children, adolescents, adults and geriatric patients. Additionally, the sessions will address patients that are in acute care, emergency care, long-term care, and in medical psychiatry and psychiatric consultation practices. This has been an incredible journey for the planning team. We hope that you know, as the consumer of ISPN education programs in the past and as ISPN members, that we were listening and have heard you.

We are looking forward to your active participation in this program and have again orchestrated a "prescribing consultation forum" during the program. We ask you to bring along a particularly challenging clinical or case that you would like to discuss with our experts on the panel. We will be exploring those particular cases and expect a robust audience participation.

We hope to see you at the Second Annual Psychopharmacology Institute in Greenville, South Carolina from March 31-April 1, 2009.

Sincerely,

Susan Krupnick, MSN, APRN-BC, CARN
Co-Director of the Psychopharmacology Institute

Evelyn Parrish, PhD, RN, ARNP
Co-Director of the Psychopharmacology Institute

Program Objectives

This course has been designed so that the participants will be able to:

- Describe new and comprehensive knowledge regarding the psychopharmacologic treatment of major psychiatric and substance abuse disorders across the life span; which will include antidepressants, antipsychotics, mood stabilizers, stimulants and addiction pharmacology.
- Discuss new and comprehensive knowledge related to augmentation and focused combination therapy, side effect assessment and management, switching of medication regimens, and strategies to address tolerability and compliance.
- Explore new and comprehensive knowledge associated with the integration of psychopharmacology prescribing into clinical practice.
